Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard To Head Campaign for Legion Endowment Fund

Money Will Go for the Building of Homes for
of Recent World War

Dr. Gilbert S. Bovard has been appointed local chairman for the American Legion's $5,000,000 Endowment Fund campaign by Commander Arthur T. Evans of the Sierra Madre Post. Dr. Bovard will be assisted in raising Sierra Madre's quota of $550 by the following committee of prominent citizens, Legion and Auxiliary members: Dennis H. Stovall, Robert Mitchell, Rev. Father Bennett, Mrs. M. D. Welscher, H. H. Steinberger, J. T. Rallsback, Arthur Evans, Mrs. Ralph Stewart, George Hapgood, Mrs. H. H. Steinberger, Ralph Stewart and Major C. S. Floyd.

The local Legion Post will maintain headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce office, 24 West Central avenue, from May 18 to 23, inclusive, and will receive subscriptions to the Endowment Fund there from 9:00 a. m. to 5:00 p. m. daily. Dr. Bovard urges all residents of Sierra Madre to contribute to this important work.

Income to Be Used

The Legion is raising a permanent fund of $5,000,000. Only the interest from this fund amounting to about $225,000 annually, will be used in the temporary care and permanent cure of disabled veterans of the world war and in caring for the orphans of veterans. When the last disabled veteran has passed on and the last orphan has reached maturity the endowment fund will be held intact and administered by the agency designated by the person who is then President of the United States for the care of other orphans and underprivileged children.

There are now 5,000 orphans of record of World War veterans and more children of veterans are becoming orphans daily. Most of these children are orphans because their fathers made the supreme sacrifice in the hour of need or have since died of wounds and disease contracted in defending our nation, its institutions and freedom. The Legion feels that unless we come to the assistance of these children they will be denied the rights and advantages for which their fathers fought and which we now enjoy because of their fathers' sacrifices.

To Seek Homes

Ole Hanson Will Open Office Here

Ole Hanson has leased the building now occupied by the Andrews & Hawks real estate firm, for a period of five years, for headquarters for his Sierra Madre operations. He will take possession as soon as the present occupants move to their new location on West Central.

Mr. Hanson and his associates have a large number of lots, several subdivisions and other real estate holdings in Sierra Madre, beside being owners of a financing company which is already responsible for a large number of houses being built in this city, and a local headquarters for the Hanson organization is an addition to the business community which is sure to result in a great deal of good to the city.

Mr. Hanson became interested in Sierra Madre about a year ago, when he purchased a small tract at the corner of Live Oak and Sierra Madre avenues. Later he purchased another tract at the corner of East Central and Canyon and recently another tract at the corner of Live Oak and Sunnyside. Beside these tracts, he has a number of lots which he has purchased during the last few months and is constantly adding to his holdings.

A number of houses have already been built by Mr. Hanson, and a larger number will be built in the near future, he says. The Hanson organization is backed by capital which runs into seven figures, a large share of which is available for Sierra Madre improvements.

Winter Creek Forest to Be Camp's Name

Winter Creek Forest—doesn't that sound alluring?

It not only locates and describes a place attractive in itself, but it is the name chosen by Mr. and Mrs. William Murphy for their mountain resort which has for 17 years or more been known as Hoegee's Camp. Mr. and Mrs. A. Hoegee, who started the camp, sold it several years ago. Since then it has passed through a number of hands, and the present owners felt the old name was misleading.

Winter Creek is one of the principal tributaries of the Big Santa Anita, running almost due east from the face of Mt. Wilson, to its junction with the main stream at Robert's Camp. There is usually water flowing in it after most of the other streams have dried up in summer time.

Splendid Tree Growth

Owing to the abundance of moisture and the absence of fire over a long period of years, the canyon has an unusually fine tree growth. Maples, alders and oaks reach mammoth proportions in the canyon, while pines cover the higher slopes and as one looks upward they seem to pierce the very sky from the summit of Mt. Wilson.

Winter Creek Forest was once the terminus of what was later extended and called Sturtevant Trail. Away back in the 70's a man named Burlingame operated a brick kiln in Los Angeles and had to come to the mountains for his fuel. He used a road which came to be known as the Burlingame road, following in a general way the "doubtful drive" or Santa Anita avenue up from Duarte road to the foothills. From a point on what is now the Lannan ranch, he built a trail into the mountains as far as Winter Creek and packed wood by burro down to his brick kiln. It was in the 90's that William Sturtevant and Lew Newcomb built the connecting link in the trail to Sierra Madre, and extended the trail to the site of Sturtevant camp and on into the West Fork of the San Gabriel.

New Camp Equipment

In Winter Creek Forest Mr. and Mrs. Murphy have a group of cozy, spic and span cabins, built of matched lumber and covered with tight roofing for protection in rainy weather. Large casement windows provide plenty of light and air in warm weather.

Three sides of the pleasant dining pavilion are devoted to windows except for space occupied by the big stone fireplace. From the wide rustic veranda the view down the canyon presents a study in pictorial composition worthy of the attention of artists.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy are developing a fine clientele for their camp. It has been brought there largely by the good reports of guests who have described its delights to their friends. The fine meals and the friendly fellowship which prevails is a welcome substitute for jazz "entertainment" make them want to come again.

The Murphys are not trying to develop the biggest camp in the mountains. For the present they are doing all the work themselves, except as some of the guests contribute to the family atmosphere by volunteering to peel spuds, wash dishes, or wait on tables.

The foundation is already partly laid for a new pavilion to take the place of the old one which will be removed to permit enlargement of the recreation ground where desperate tennis, croquet and horse-shoe matches are fought. Addition of a solar heater system to the shower bath equipment is another improvement planned for the not distant future.

Parent-Teachers Install Officers at Next Meeting

The Parent-Teachers association will hold its annual election of officers at the meeting next Wednesday, May 20, at the kindergarten building at 2:30. The installation ceremony will also take place the same day. Mrs. P. H. Funk, third vice president of the Pasadena Federation, acting as installing officer.

An interesting program has been planned, with Mrs. Randolph Wood as special soloist and a number of songs by the school chorus and other exercises by the school children.

The four candidates for officers on the Pasadena board of education were present at a meeting called by the Parent-Teachers association Thursday night. Only a small crowd was present but all expressed themselves as being very much pleased with all the candidates who sought office. There are three vacancies to be filled and four candidates.

The Pollyanna Hat Shop is putting in a new line of house dresses, hostery, silk and knit underwear, garden hats and stamped goods.

Board Has Evening of Hard Work

The Sierra Madre Volunteer Firemen will now be fully protected by insurance paid by the city, as a result of a motion passed by the board of trustees at its meeting Thursday night. City Clerk Louis Deitz was instructed to increase the compensation insurance on the 20 men who protect the city against loss by fire to the limit under the state compensation insurance regulations.

Heretofore the firemen have been insured so that if injured while on duty for the city they would receive a compensation of a little more than $4.00 per week. Under the new arrangement firemen injured while on duty will receive compensation of a little more than $20.00 per week while unable to work and will receive permanent compensation for total disability and in case of a death the beneficiaries will receive $5,000 in cash. The cost to the city for this insurance is only $200 per year for the entire department.

Delay on Permits

The permit for the bowling alley and billiard parlor which was requested by L. C. Tucker and R. Russell, was tabled until the trustees would have time to investigate and consider the proposition. The applicants presented a petition with a large number of names along with their request for a permit.

The permit to the Southern Counties Gas company for the erection of a large gas pressure tank near the business district of Sierra Madre was also tabled. The ordinance committee, it is understood, had reached an agreement with the gas company to delay action for two weeks so that some practical plan could be worked out.

County Health Service

A representative of the County Health Department was present and presented the county plan of handling health and sanitation work in cities. The county offers to provide a complete sanitation service including the inspection of food and water supplies, and dairies, conduct a well baby clinic, handle the laboratory service as well as take care to the quarantining of communicable diseases as is now done by the local health officer for the sum of $50.00 per month. The city is now paying $25.00 per month for the health officer who, it is claimed, is handicapped in not having proper laboratory facilities and must maintain a private practice, instead of devoting his time to health work. In the event the county plan is adopted, Sierra Madre would be a part of the Monrovia district. The trustees asked that a written proposition be submitted at the next meeting of the board.

Field Gun for Park

H. H. Steinberger, representing the American Legion, told the board that the city had been offered a war trophy if it would pay the freight from the east. On a field gun, this would be about $150. He said that the American Legion Post was anxious to do the necessary detail work to obtain this gun for the city park. The board agreed to pay the freight if the Legion Post would secure the gun for the city park.

At the request of Water Superintendent Tom Henderson, the board ordered notice to be sent to J. J. Vanderberg to vacate the Mt. Wilson Trail Inn which is located on city property at the end of Mt. Wilson trail. Mr. Henderson said that he planned to build a concrete and stucco pump house near the present site of the inn and was anxious to beautify the surroundings and make that corner of town as presentable as possible.

Entry in Parade

The sum of $25.00 was appropriated by the city to be spent by the firemen in decorating a float to be entered in the Monrovia Day parade at Monrovia tomorrow (Saturday). The float is being decorated at the park house and will be entered in a contest for the $50.00 loving cup which the association offers.

City Attorney Fred Baker announced that the trial of the Mountain Glen Heathatarium case has been set for May 26. He also announced that a petition was being circulated for an initiated ordinance and that if passed, the action would probably have some effect on the outcome of the case now pending. It was the opinion of the board, however, that the case should not be delayed further.

A new resolution of intention to improve Victoria Lane was passed by the board, the first having been abandoned because of a protest by the district because of the specifications which they said did not meet their needs. An agreement was reached between the board and the protesters a few weeks ago and the new resolution conforms to the agreement.

G. I. Farman of the Sierra Madre Electric company has a fine display at the Merchants exhibit to be held in Monrovia next week.

Miss Ruth Klemme Will Head Sierra Madre Woman's Club for the Coming Year

Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones, as Vice President, Will Be First Assistant to the New President of Popular Woman's Organization

Announcement of the result of the annual election of officers of the Sierra Madre Woman's Club was made at the close of the happy afternoon session of the club on Wednesday by Mrs. John Osgood, chairman of the election board. As a result the following officers will serve the club next year:

President, Miss Ruth Klemme.

First Vice President, Mrs. J. Glenwood Jones.

Second Vice President, Mrs. Emil Sturmthal.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. E. Bacon.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. D. Burbank.

Treasurer, Miss Eleanor Bayne.

Auditor, Mrs. Louis Dietz.

Directors, Mrs. John Osgood, Mrs. W. E. Gray, Mrs. W. H. Ingraham, Mrs. Agnes Tyree.

The club house was beautifully decorated with flowers and the tables looked most inviting as the members gathered for luncheon. In the absence of the president, Mrs. J. K. Hart, acted as chairman.

After a delicious luncheon a beautiful poem, "Sierra Madre—Mother Mountains," written by Mrs. S. C. Scantlebury, was read by Miss Ruth Klemme. In this little poem which is appended to this report, the author beautifully expresses in words what many less talented lovers of the mountains feel in their hearts.

Mrs. George F. Roberts reported on the subect of civic affairs and improvements as considered at the district convention at Santa Barbara. Mrs. Lawless discussed legislative matters. At the convention a bulletin board listed the bills brought before the last legislature, indicating the fate of each. It was suggested that voters check up on their representatives to see if they voted for or against certain measures as promised and that their re-election should depend upon their actions regarding public improvement and advancement.

Mrs. George F. Ferris read Mrs. Stork's report at the district convention and, knowing that the club members would be interested, during the after-luncheon hour read this surprisingly comprehensive short report. Mrs. Ferris also gave a few high lights from Mrs. Urquhart's address: the necessity of overlooking envy, jealousy, spite and the like, before one may gain true bigness and keep God an active factor in one's life. Quite like the religion of Elsie Janis as expressed in her "Prayer": "One should not worship God just in church or on Sunday but throughout each day and in all work and pleasure. And so, of course, one expresses one's religion in the attitude assumed toward all one contacts."

Mrs. Stork has been a true magician this club year. It is quite wonderful the way she procures our delightful programs.

The program of Wednesday afternoon was exceptionally lovely. Mrs. J. N. Hawks, chairman of music, presided during the program.

Miss Genevieve Wiley played several delightful selections. Her interpretations were excellent and her ability as a pianist beyond question. She graciously responded to the evident desire for an encore.

Miss Junia Wolff quite charmed her audience with her delightful voice and sweet personality. Her accompaniments were very beautifully played by Mrs. Lois Brown McManus.

Mrs. Scantlebury's poem reminded Miss Lucy Chamberlain of James G. Clark's poem, "Mount Lowe," and as a loyal Pasadenaan she gave that as her first reading. The other readings given by Miss Chamberlain were humorous and were most thorough.

Community Club

It affords me great pleasure to announce the speaker at the monthly supper of the Men's Community club, Thursday, May 21, will be Ex-Senator Wm. J. Carr of Pasadena, and his subject will be "The Boulder Canyon Project." This is a subject that every citizen of Southern California is interested in and we solicit a very large and enthusiastic attendance at that time.

Please reserve the date and come out and give Mr. Carr a hearty reception. Supper tickets 50c are on sale only up to Wednesday night, May 20, at Hartman's Drug Store and with S. R. G. Twycross and Daniel Shaffer. Supper 6:30, program 7:30 p. m. Ladies' night. Let's go.—Geo. S. Anderson, Pres't.

SIERRA MADRE

The Mother Mountains

By Elizabeth Scantlebury

He loved you, he who gave your name,

O "Mother Mountains" dear;

Was it one who sought for rest and home,

A weary pioneer?

Who saw within your tender arms

Cloud shadows cradled lie,

And round your knees the little hills,

Like children, standing by?

He loved you then, we love you now.

His love he handed down

To all those twinkling evening lights

Your little foothills crown.

We love you when, to dancing rain,

You don your kirtle green;

When, through a misty wind-blown veil,

Your face is dimly seen;

When sunrise comes with flying feet

To crown your head with gold;

When Dawn and Twilight royal robes

Around your shoulders fold.

And when, serene and calm, you stand

In homely, weathered browns,

We love you, Mother Mountains,

then—

Your little foothill towns.

Real Estate Firm Starts New Office

Work will start in a few days on the construction of a new building on West Central avenue near the Wistaria theater to be occupied by the real estate firm of Andrews & Hawks. The new building is to be of Spanish type of architecture and of adobe and stucco construction. R. M. Finlayson is the architect. The proposed building will be set several feet back from the sidewalk and will have a lawn and patio with a fountain as a decorative feature. There will also be a wall around the back and sides of the lawn to conform to the general style of the structure. The entrance will be from the west side with leaded windows as decorative features in the south front.

The exact location of the proposed building is the lot where the Andrews & Hawks sign now stands and which has been owned by the firm for a number of years. It is the plan to have a building which will be unique and will serve the combined purpose of advertising feature and office for the firm.

Hand Picked Paramounts At Wistaria

Buster Keaton takes seven chances on his life in "Seven Chances," his latest Metro-Goldwyn comedy, presented by Joseph M. Schenk, which is coming to the Wistaria theater on Sunday for two days. His partners in business want to kill him, hatchet-faced females wish to lead him to the marriage altar, his girl goes gunning for him, creditors assemble for his execution, his future father-in-law tries to assassinate him, Wall Street brokers plan his demise, and 777 girls, who answer his matrimonial advertisement, are about to tear him to pieces when he refuses to make good. Buster has a gala array of leading women in "Seven Chances," among them Peggy Pearce, Doris Dean, Marian Harlan, Loro Bara, Alma Bramley, Hazel Dean, Pauline Toler, Judie King, Bartine Burkette, Eugenie Gilbert, Edna Hamman, Barbara Pierce, Jean Arthur, Connie Evans and Rosalind Mooney. T. Roy Barnes, Snitz Edwards and Jules Cowles have the leading male roles.

If you want to see a picture full of love and intrigue, don't miss Elinor Glyn's Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production, "Man and Maid," which will open at the Wistaria Tuesday, May 19. Madam Glyn has psychology at the tips of her fingers and knows how to put her theories over on the screen as well as she does in her writing. She offers for our approval a new leading woman, Harriet Hammond. Miss Hammond is an ethereal blonde, and gave a beautiful performance of the heroine role—Althea.

Pathos, pep and politics are the ingredients that make "The Speed Spook," with Johnny Hines, which comes to the Wistaria on May 20, a most enjoyable production. Pathos at its best is shown in the struggle of the girl to make a success of a man's job; pep dominates the entire picture with its breezy star, its astounding automobile race and the sequence showing an army tank ploughing through an arsenal wall; and politics wherein Johnny does a bit of original electioneering to elect his sweetheart's father to the sheriff's office. This triumvirate of pathos, pep and politics makes "The Speed Spook" the best feature melodrama Johnny Hines has made to date.

"The Enemy Sex," with Betty Compson, comes to the Wistaria on Thursday for a two-day run. This picture is the product of the pen of Owen Johnson, author of "The Salamander."

The world's record for rifle and pistol shots fired in proportion to the number of players was broken during the recent filming of "To the Last Man," according to Victor Fleming, director of this Paramount picture. It took five pack horses to carry the ammunition used in the making of the picture into location among the rugged hills of Arizona where the 10,000 rounds were discharged. The Pleasant Valley war, an historic fight between two lawless bands of cattlemen was reproduced.

The fighting was carried on in fast tempo in this Zane Grey production, which had been adapted for the screen from Zane Grey's immortal story. Richard Dix, featured in the production, held the record of the company by discharging 982 rounds. Lois Wilson is also featured. At the Wistaria on Saturday only.

CHAMPION SERIES AROUSES HOCKEY FANS IN L. A.

With the announcement, made yesterday, that the Monarch Athletic club ice hockey team, winners of the city title, would meet the Vancouver, Canadian Pacific Coast champions, at the Palais de Glace in a series of five games, interest has picked up in the ice rink sport. Despite the fact that the Monarchs with Chum Irvine, Moose Galbraith and Bill Shaver, have a team that rates right up among the best in the United States, the Canadian stars are expected to take the series for their outfit is credited with being one of the fastest in the world.

The games are to be played in the Hollywood ring, Melrose and Vermont avenues, May 16, 18, 21, 23 and 25, and crowded houses are expected at every tilt. The winner of the first three games will be crowned with the coast championship.

Bill Scott will manage the championship series for the California Amateur Ice Hockey association and the Palais de Glace officials.

Fans who have carefully considered the matter feel that the one chance for the Monarchs to cop the title will be their familiarity with the Hollywood rink.

FREE AIR, ALMOST

For hours they had been together in her front porch. The moon cast its tender gleam down on the young and handsome couple who sat strangely far apart. He sighed. She sighed. Finally:

"I wish I had money, dear," he said, "I'd travel."

Impulsively, she slipped her hand into his; then, rising swiftly, she sped into the house.

Aghast, he looked at his hand. In his palm lay a nickel.—Trumbull Cheer.

Observations

ARE LAWYERS EXPENSIVE?

Anybody who read facetiousness at the expense of lawyers into my Observations of last week has another guess coming. It was not the high cost of lawyers but the high cost of bootlegging that was emphasized. Any way you fix it, the way of the transgressor is hard, increasingly so. There seems to be a type of mind incapable of harboring respect for law except under compulsion of some such motive as the realization that lawbreaking is extremely expensive. As to lawyers being expensive, just ask the sellers of the Dodge motor interests who paid $6,000,000 in taxes unnecessarily because they did not get proper legal advice! If men who are accustomed to handling such tremendous business interests make expensive mistakes in not securing the best advice obtainable, how much more likely are people of limited business experience to incur losses through assumption that their own knowledge of law is sufficient for their affairs.

PUBLIC SCHOOL WEEK

The interest in public education which caused the Masonic grand lodge to institute an annual public school week six years ago has good historical background in California. Immediately following the gold rush, there was a period of rapid population increase, with a large admixture of adventurers and criminals. A state bordering on anarchy succeeded the easy, lazy days when there was no more government than the little that was needed. It is of record that the men who were active in establishing the first stable government in the effort to replace chaos with order were members of the fraternity who were at the same time planting schools where none existed before. The school system which they established has been nourished until it stands in the front rank among the states of the Union. Public assemblies called to consider school matters are so often asked what is wrong with the schools that it is refreshing to have the emphasis of the present week placed on what is right with the schools.

FINE DEVELOPMENT COMING

Completion of the big reservoir above Scenic Point paves the way for a splendid real estate development which many of us have long prophesied as the choicest in prospect for the whole of Sierra Madre. Who that has hiked high up along the foot of the mountains has not exclaimed upon the beauty of the building site to be found there? The great drawbacks were inaccessibility and lack of water. The former has been dispelled by the automobile, and the latter by the new additions to the water system.

In passing around the bouquets as this wonderfully attractive region is opened up and developed, one of the choicest should be allotted to Mrs. N. C. Carter, who donated the reservoir site to the city. It is of more than passing interest that the development of the last unimproved portion of the Sierra Madre tract should in a way be made possible through this action on the part of Mrs. Carter, whose husband first purchased the whole townsite from the late E. J. Baldwin for subdivision.

"WE" OR I

"What a crust, to write your observations in the first person singular," said one of the several readers of this column the other day. I know there are that many readers of this column because that many people have commented on things said here. It is sufficiently flattering to have attention of readers with their mentality, to prevent concern if there were not many more. They do not always agree, nor do I expect it. I only hope no one reads this column who is not prepared to disagree in as good humor as that in which it is written. Yes, plenty of crust, perhaps, but not so much that I want to express myself as "we." The editorial "we" was invented to conceal personality. But its chief effect seems to be the implication that the opinions expressed are those of nobody in particular, or that the writer seeks to dodge responsibility for them. Hence the first person singular and the signature.

—G. B. M.

DON'T WASTE TIME

I like to have dealings with very busy men, for the reason that they never waste your time. So many persons who want to see one don't know enough to leave when they should. I have noticed, too, that nearly all our business leaders are punctual in keeping business appointments. Lots of others aren't. Punctuality, or the reverse, is mainly a matter of habit. Somehow, I can't help questioning the ability, the efficiency, the dependability of any person who is habitually late. Don't you have the same feeling?

Don't handicap yourself by permitting this habit to fasten itself upon you.—B. C. Forbes.

New Hotel
Has Fine
Reception

The opening of the new Sierra Madre hotel was an affair far above all expectations, according to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Harmon, the proprietors. The crowd began arriving about 7:30 Saturday night and kept the lobby, dining room and upper floor filled until after 11 o'clock.

Early in the day baskets and boxes of flowers began arriving at the new hotel, accompanied by the congratulations and best wishes of the residents and business firms of the town. These tokens of friendly feeling came as a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Harmon, who were unable to express their deep appreciation of these courtesies.

The crowd, which numbered about 400 persons, was equally pleased with the greeting accorded by the host and hostess and the appearance of the new hotel. An inspection of the hotel showed that it is one of the nicest small hotels in this part of the country, with all new furniture, thick carpets and tasteful decorations. There are 29 rooms with baths and all of them furnished with new furniture and comfortable beds, which will rank well with any hotel of any size whatever.

The hotel already has a number of guests and from all appearances will be enjoying a flourishing business from the start. It is interesting to know that the first guests of the hotel were a bride and groom from Santa Monica who spent their honeymoon in Sierra Madre.

Result of Campaign
Is 300 Trees

About 200 persons were present at the program given Saturday afternoon as a feature of tree planting day, which was organized by Earl Topping and his committee from the chamber of commerce. The campaign resulted in the planting of 300 trees in the new park on East Central avenue. The trees for the most part were donated by individuals and organizations and represented the interests of a large part of the people of this community in the new project.

It is also pointed out that the campaign had the effect of stimulating interest in planting trees in every part of the city and in generally making the city more beautiful.

It is now the plan to institute similar campaigns in other parts of the town at various times with the hoped for result that eventually the entire town will be well provided with trees.

The tree planting occasion met such widespread approval that the men employed by the city, who were detailed to put the trees in the ground, began their work early Friday morning and are still working on the job. Those who had no way of transporting the trees were told that the city truck would call for them and there are still trees to be planted. There are also a number of trees which were given to the city but which should not be transplanted at this season of the year and are being kept by the owners until the proper season for re-setting arrives. The total number of trees so far received is now above the 300 mark.

The program given Saturday afternoon was substantially the same as that announced in the News last week, with the addition of a number of notables from the reforestation association who were present at the ceremony and a delegation from Monrovia. The tree given by the board of trustees was dedicated to N. C. Carter, the founder of Sierra Madre.

ON A VOYAGE TO ENGLAND

Cabot A. Yerxa has lived in the desert so long that when he sold his store at Fertilla recently the greatest boon he could think of was an ocean voyage for a vacation. Accordingly he left on Saturday for Panama, as the first leg of a journey to England. He will visit the British Empire exposition at Wembley, near London, which is of the proportions of a world's fair. In addition to operating his store at Fertilla, Mr. Yerxa was also postmaster and the combination tied him down for so long that he wanted to be fancy free, so he did not even buy a return ticket. He expects to return to Sierra Madre, but he did not want to be tied to a schedule. His mother, Mrs. Nellie Yerxa, is remaining here, having taken a bungalow at 37 Suffolk avenue.

People Locate in City For Many Reasons, But All Enjoy Advantages

Health, Love of Beauty, Friendliness, Are All Given as Reasons Why People Come to Sierra Madre

Why do people come to Sierra Madre? This is a question which has been in the minds of a good many people in the past who have been residents of the town since the early days or were born here due to a kind and fore-handed guardian angel. The question is one which gives rise to considerable speculation and the only way it can be answered is to inquire of your neighbors—what brought them to the foot of the mountains and having arrived here—why do they stay?

Of course a large number of families have settled here from time to time because of the illness of some member of the family, but in innumerable cases when the health of that member has recovered or the necessity for living here has been otherwise removed, the families remain and in not a few cases, the families have left for other lands only to finally return to Sierra Madre with a determination to spend their remaining days here.

The health reason for coming to Sierra Madre may cover a large area of circumstances which are not in any way connected with the disability of any member of the family, on the other hand. There are a large number of people who live in Sierra Madre because they are particularly susceptible to many forms of indisposition which detract from either their efficiency or their happiness and which makes living in Sierra Madre a joy which cannot be realized in any other place.

To Keep Well

For instance there is a Long Beach family who owns a cabin in the canyon and who spend much of their time here because several of the members are bothered with sore throat during the foggy weather at the beach but when they come to the foothill city they suffer no inconvenience. This family is not in any way in the invalid class and Sierra Madre is particularly fortunate in possessing a climate which provided better health even for the comparatively healthy.

There are also a number of business men and women who live in Sierra Madre because of an extremely nervous condition, either organic or because of the nature of their work, which requires them to live in a place where the surroundings are the best that can be found, in order that they may have strength to do their daily work. There are many such persons who have increased their efficiency as well as their happiness in living in Sierra Madre, where the air is always pure and surroundings ideal.

Reward of Life Work

Then there is the class of people who have done their bit in the world and are resting, or at least taking the reward of their labors. Maybe the hardships of early struggles and the subsequent strain of the tasks they were set to accomplish have left their marks and a smiling sun and a clean pure air is needed to keep them at their best and they come to Sierra Madre.

The less fortunate come to Sierra Madre to get all the assistance possible to help them in their fight against the diseases which annually take thousands from every part of the earth and which are by no means peculiar to Sierra Madre. In fact, though these persons may be more in evidence than others who have come to this city to enjoy the advantages of good health, they actually form only a small per cent of the whole.

No Place Like Home

After the people who come here to enjoy better health, there are those who come here because they enjoy the beauty of the town. There is a zest in living near the mountains and overlooking a beautiful valley which cannot be well explained but which never-the-less is felt and appreciated by a large number of people. Not one, but dozens of Sierra Madre people have experienced a sort of thrill when they have been away, even for a day or two and are again approaching the town. As one man expressed it, he felt as though he was coming to a mother's arms and which might not be so far from the reason the early explorers called our hills, the Mother Mountains.

As if the reasons given were not enough for living in any community, there are still others who will insist that the real charm of Sierra Madre is the friendly spirit of her people. It is hard to believe that people are much different in one place than in another unless one has actually experienced the difference, but there are those who will tell you that there is more friendly helpfulness and sympathetic understanding in Sierra Madre than in any other town of the same size, well, anywhere.

Why do people come to Sierra Madre? For any one of the reasons or perhaps all of them and those who come for any one of the advantages named have the others gratis. There at least are enough good reasons why people have come to assure the most conservative that Sierra Madre will, one of these days take its place among, not the largest, perhaps, but the best and certainly the most loved of all California cities.

Church and Sunday School

Congregational Church

At the Sunday morning service at 11 o'clock in the First Congregational church, Dr. Tate will by special request take for his subject, "Hell and Future Punishment." The special questions to be discussed are, What Is Meant by Hell? Is the idea of everlasting torment contradictory to the idea that God is a Father and that God is Love? Is Hell a fire in which people are burned up, or is future punishment similar to present punishment? Does God punish us or do we punish ourselves?

Dr. Tate will give a frank and fearless consideration of all these questions.

At the evening service the picture to be presented is "The Preacher's Son." There will be two reels of travel scenes in addition and special music. A warm welcome and a live interesting service awaits you. Come and bring your friends with you.

Arthur Harries of Cardiff, Wales, deputation secretary for the United States, will give a series of addresses at Bethany Temple next week, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m., on each of those days. This wonderful man of God has a most marvelous message for all. His wide experience in Wales, his great pastorate in London, and his work in India, with his clear, profound knowledge of the Bible, and his deep spiritual life added to a wonderful eloquence, makes him a powerful leader and speaker.

Schueler of Pasadena, field missionary of the Southern Conference, will conduct the service. The Scriptural Lutheran Common service makes an atmosphere of worship and of good cheer. New persons are present at each service. The woods are full of Lutherans, and this is hoping that many more will soon find their way to the House of Worship.

LONGED-FOR CLIMAX IS REACHED

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

(© 1924, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

They were gathered together in conference, six of them, on the Dunbars' cool veranda—Sally Haynes, Joan Gray, the Bayley twins, Carol Endicott and her cousin Kit.

"We're all agreed then," said Sally, "that something has to be done? For the past ten years Blanche has annexed every newcomer in town, at the same time retaining part interest in every native eligible, so that none of us ever know where we stand. I plan on taking Dick Somers to a dance, only to find he is dated up with Blanche. Joan here and the twins get up a bridge, and learn that the boys are invited to Blanche's for a planked steak. She's the champion college widow, and I am sick of it!"

"So say we all of us!" cried Carol, speaking for the crowd. "Now let's consider ways and means of ending her career. We can't run her out of town. Let's marry her off!"

There was a moment's silence as the sextette pondered the proposition. Then, "To whom?" asked somebody. "Who is willing to sacrifice her young man to the cause?"

"That's not necessary," said Sally so emphatically that everybody smiled, for it was no secret that until Blanche tried her wiles on him Dick Somers had been decidedly interested in Sally. "Our crowd is too young for Blanche to think of seriously. She just uses them to pass the time, which only makes her vamping them all the meaner. But—let me see. How about Sam Merrille?"

"Pippin of an idea!" cried Joan. "Particularly as I hear he is planning to move to the city as soon as he sells out his store. I'd as lief see Blanche leave town. She might be even more dangerous married! Now let's be practical and work out ways and means."

There was nothing original and complicated about the scheme when finally evolved, but there was merit in it and a certain degree of probability that with six such earnest backers it would succeed.

The two principals in the drama, Blanche and the middle-aged business man, were to be invited to one affair after another gotten up by the girls, and no opportunity was to be missed of dining into the ears of the one praises of the other. The six bound themselves to secrecy, Sally taking a special oath not to drop a hint to Dick.

Spurred by youthful enthusiasm as well as the need for immediate action, a series of informal entertainments were set in motion, starting off with a mah-jongg party at Sally's. Blanche sent a prompt acceptance, as did also Sam, although presumably the latter wondered a bit at his sudden inclusion in the goings on of a considerably younger set.

"Isn't Blanche adorable tonight?" Carol sighed to him as she and Sam and Sally and Dick built their wall. "You know, we are all her slaves."

Sam threw an appraising glance at Blanche, who was dressed in black chiffon velvet and green earrings. "You've said it," was his noncommittal reply.

"What a wonderful wife Blanche will make for some lucky man," was Joan's contribution later in the evening, indicating Blanche, whom Sally had asked to stir the chicken in the chafing dish. "So domestic!"

"I'll tell the world," returned Sam. One by one during the course of the evening each girl managed to convey to Sam some expression of appreciation of Blanche's good points, real or imagined, and in similar fashion to Blanche of Sam's.

At the close of the evening, it was quietly managed that Sam should take Blanche home, and the happy conspirators were left to chuckle over their ingenuity.

Party followed party, and if Blanche wondered at her sudden popularity she gave no sign. Sam accepted the good times phlegmatically, allowing himself to be paired off with Blanche with no sign of reluctance.

In spite of this, however, affairs with Sally and Dick did not improve. Sally tried to comfort herself with the reflection that once Blanche had married Sam and departed, Dick would naturally return to her beck and call as in the past, and she summoned whatever stolidism she possessed to help her bear the lull.

It was observed that Sam had taken to calling upon Blanche with commendable frequency, and gradually the six girls, who were beginning to weary of the constant entertaining, hoped that by the time of the club fete matters would have reached the longed-for climax.

On that occasion Sally was chairman of the supper committee, and took especial pains to see that she herself sat with Dick and Blanche with Sam. The other girls and their escorts were to sit at the same table, and the whole crowd to occupy a rather secluded little alcove at one end of the hall.

Sally wasn't particularly happy. She and Dick had had a little disagreement that afternoon, and it had left her wishing she had never known Dick, had never concerned herself

Oldest Almanac?

Probably the almanac preserved in the British museum, which dates back 1,200 years before the birth of Christ, to the time of Ramesses the Great of Egypt, is the oldest in the world. It is written on papyrus, in red ink and covers a period of six years. The entries relate to religious ceremonies, to the fates of children born on given days, and to the regulation of business enterprises in accordance with planetary influences.

with other people's affairs—especially matrimonial.

"You've something on your mind, Sally," Dick had said. "Tell me, and I'll let you in on something."

But Sally, true to her pledged word, had refused, and Dick had grinned and refused to satisfy her curiosity. His smile had provoked her to make a few childish remarks, and—there you were! They were scrapping like children.

She was thinking of this at the close of the supper, and about to whisper to Joan that they cut out further scheming, when Blanche suddenly demanded attention by standing up. "Listen, people," she said, "You have all been so dear, that I'm going to tell you something which I know you suspect. Sam and I are to be married very shortly. We've been engaged for a long time, but did not want it advertised, as I hate long engagements when everybody knows. But we knew you knew when you suddenly began to be so lovely to us! We're ready to announce it formally now, so are taking this way of doing it. And we thank you. Don't we, Sam?"

There was a moment's silence. Then "Speech! Speech!" brought Sam to reluctant feet.

On the way home, Dick slipped an arm about Sally. "That's what I wanted to tell you this afternoon," he said. "I've known for ages."

Sally didn't slip from his arm, but she sighed deeply. "Oh, if we'd only known! Think of all the bridge whists and mah-jongg parties and midnight meals we would have been saved. To say nothing"—and she paused and looked up at him sweetly—"of considerable worry!"

Shoshone Indians Had

to "Win Their Spurs"

As war was their chief occupation, bravery was the first virtue among the Shoshone Indians of the American Northwest. None could hope to be distinguished without having given proof of it, nor could there be any preference or influence among the nation without some warlike achievement.

The important events which gave reputation to a warrior and entitled him to a new name were: Killing a white (or grizzly) bear, stealing individually the horses of the enemy, leading a party who happened to be successful either in plundering horses or destroying the enemy, and, lastly, scalping an enemy warrior.

These acts seemed of nearly equal dignity, says the Detroit News, but the last—that of taking an enemy warrior's scalp—was an honor quite independent of the act of vanquishing him, since one's adversary was of no importance unless the scalp was brought from the field of battle.

Were a warrior to slay any number of his enemies in action, and others were to obtain the scalps or first touch the dead, they would have all the honors, since they had borne off the trophy.

Rev. Dana Passes

Rev. Joseph C. Dana of Santa Barbara passed away on Thursday, May 7. He was the father of Mrs. Eva D. Moore of Sierra Madre. Mr. Dana was born in Owego, New York, in 1827 and was a veteran of the Civil war. He was a Methodist minister and was still in active work in his 84th year. Most of his ministry was in Illinois and Kansas. Mrs. Moore went to Santa Barbara Friday, returning Monday. Rev. Dana resided here with Mrs. Moore during 1920 and 1921.

"Watch Nights"

It has been the custom from time immemorial to maintain watch on the night preceding any great event. References to this are found in the Gospel of Mark 14:37, Psalm 130:3. The watch night services for the new year were popularized by John Wesley, founder of the Methodist religion, and by the Moravians, with whom Wesley was at one time affiliated.

Indispensable Metal

Copper now is indispensable and outshines gold and silver in all practical purposes. Should our supply of copper fail, almost all mechanical transport would cease.

Large Fortification

Fortress Monroe, on Old Point Comfort, at the mouth of the James river, in Virginia, is the largest fortification in this country. It occupies 200 acres given in 1818 to the United States by Virginia.

Egotistic Ruler

In the early Christian era the use of mosaics for churches somewhat supplanted mural painting. Still, during the reign of Justinian the Church of Saint Sophia was built at Constantinople and its walls were adorned with paintings. It was upon the completion of this famous house of worship that the sultan exclaimed: "I have surpassed thee, O Solomon!"

ALONG LIFE'S TRAIL

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

GEORGE'S WIFE

EVERYONE admitted that George had made a great success. He had come from humble parentage, he had worked his way through college, he had started at the bottom with the firm of which he was now a member, and now at forty-five he was looked upon as the leading man in town. He was a member of every worth-while organization in the community, he was a part of every important local gathering—social, political or religious—and his advice was sought and followed on every hand.

There was no doubt but that George had made good. He had finesse, he was always well dressed, he had made money, he had influence, he was acknowledged to be a great man.

People were a little uncertain about George's wife, but on the whole they hardly considered her his equal. She was a shy, unobtrusive person who said little, who seldom went out, who belonged to no clubs, and who shone with a very dim light when contrasted with George's brilliant appearance. A good many people were rather inclined to be sorry for George and to wonder how he came to tie up with so ordinary a partner.

"Isn't it unfortunate," I heard a shallow society woman remark one day, "that George Clauson married such a commonplace wife? If he had gotten the right sort of woman there is no limit to what he might have accomplished."

But she was judging by appearances and did not really know much about George's wife, for she was quite as busy as her husband. It was she who took all the responsibility for the management of their household affairs; she looked after their three children; she saw that the house was quiet and orderly when George came home, for he was often tired and irritable from the strain of the active life he led, and he had to have his rest and proper food, and a good deal of personal attention when he was in the house.

It was George's wife who looked up references for him when he was to make a speech, who packed his bag when he was going on a trip, who relieved him of all the petty burdens which weigh most men down in every household, who urged him on from one success to another, and who when he was discouraged dragged him out of the slough of despond and set him on his feet again.

It was, in fact, George's wife who was mainly responsible for the success of the Clauson family, only the public didn't know it. She was quite satisfied to have the secret pride and satisfaction, as many women are, while George got the glory.

Vary Only Slightly

The word "cyclopedia" is the name of a work given usually where its terms are arranged in alphabetical order, a summary of some single branch of knowledge, as a cyclopedia of music. Sometimes the word is used in a wider sense for the word "encyclopedia," which is the name of a work containing information on all subjects or exhaustive of one subject arranged in systematic order.—Kansas City Star.

Monster Crabs

King crabs, found mostly off the islands of Japan, measure from three feet to five feet from tip to tip of their great claws. The largest ever caught is recorded as having been ninety feet from tip to tip.

CONGREGATIONAL LADIES TO MEET NEXT TUESDAY

Tuesday, May 19, will be a big day with the Congregational ladies. In the morning at 10 o'clock the Ladies' Aid will meet to transact some very important business and a full attendance is expected.

At 12:30 Mrs. Leggett and Mrs. Walker will serve a "patriotic luncheon" and when these two ladies offer a special luncheon there is a scramble for seats. Reservations may be made with either of the ladies up to noon Monday. The charge is 35 cents.

The Missionary Program will be given at the tables. Mrs. Bacon will lead the service of song and Mrs. Merrill the devotionals. Mrs. Lord will give some missionary items. After this comes the pageant, "Missions, not War." Mrs. A. M. Croxson has the direction of this part of the program and Uncle Sam, Columbia, and ladies from six other countries will demonstrate that to rule the world by love is easier and nobler than to try to do it by force.

Every woman in Sierra Madre will be welcome at the Congregational church on Tuesday.

MASONIC PLAY WILL BE FULL OF BIG LAUGHS

J. R. Finlayson and his group of star players are working steadily on the production of "What Happened to Jones," to be given as a benefit for the Masonic lodge. Dave Buchan has the leading role of Jones, his brother, Jack, is a comedy indian, and Bart Finlayson is the father of a family of fine girls. The play is full of screams from start to finish and it is estimated that if the laughs were placed end to end they would extend from Shakespeare's home to the Congressional library and back again. Other members of the cast are Miss Virginia Jones, Mrs. Nettie Finlayson, Miss Viola Fennel, Mrs. J. N. Hawks, Dick Young and J. N. Hawks.
